SPATIAL SHIFTS

Reclaiming our Cities

The National Organization of Minority Architects is excited to announce the upcoming 48th Annual NOMA Conference, taking place October 14th - 18th, 2020, on-line.

Together we will explore ways in which we can break down barriers to creating meaningful projects, remix the role of the designer, and unpack new approaches to the design processes of our built environment. Each one of us will find our ikusasa (Yoruba for future or progress), to forge our path towards progression.

Cities are changing populations and economies in Oakland, Dakar, and beyond. We, as designers, community members, leaders, advocates, and environmental stewards, need to be prepared to shift the narrative on issues of our current structures towards more equitable and safe systems including to persevere through a health crisis. We must fight to provide access for all to quality public spaces and create opportunities to enter and engage in our professions.

There is a gap between design development and who ultimately declares what is built in our community. Reckoning with the past, we need to question who has a right to ownership and who has a voice in the design process to build a better future. In Oakland + everywhere, we will collectively explore and share ways to reshape our communities, to fill those gaps in design justice, and move towards a new renaissance.

#NOMASPATIALSHIFTS2020

It is my pleasure to invite you to the 48th Annual Conference & Exposition - Oakland, CA - our annual convening of members and colleagues where we share innovative solutions, make valuable connections and prepare for what's ahead.

HOST CHAPTER

WELCOME

JUNE GRANT

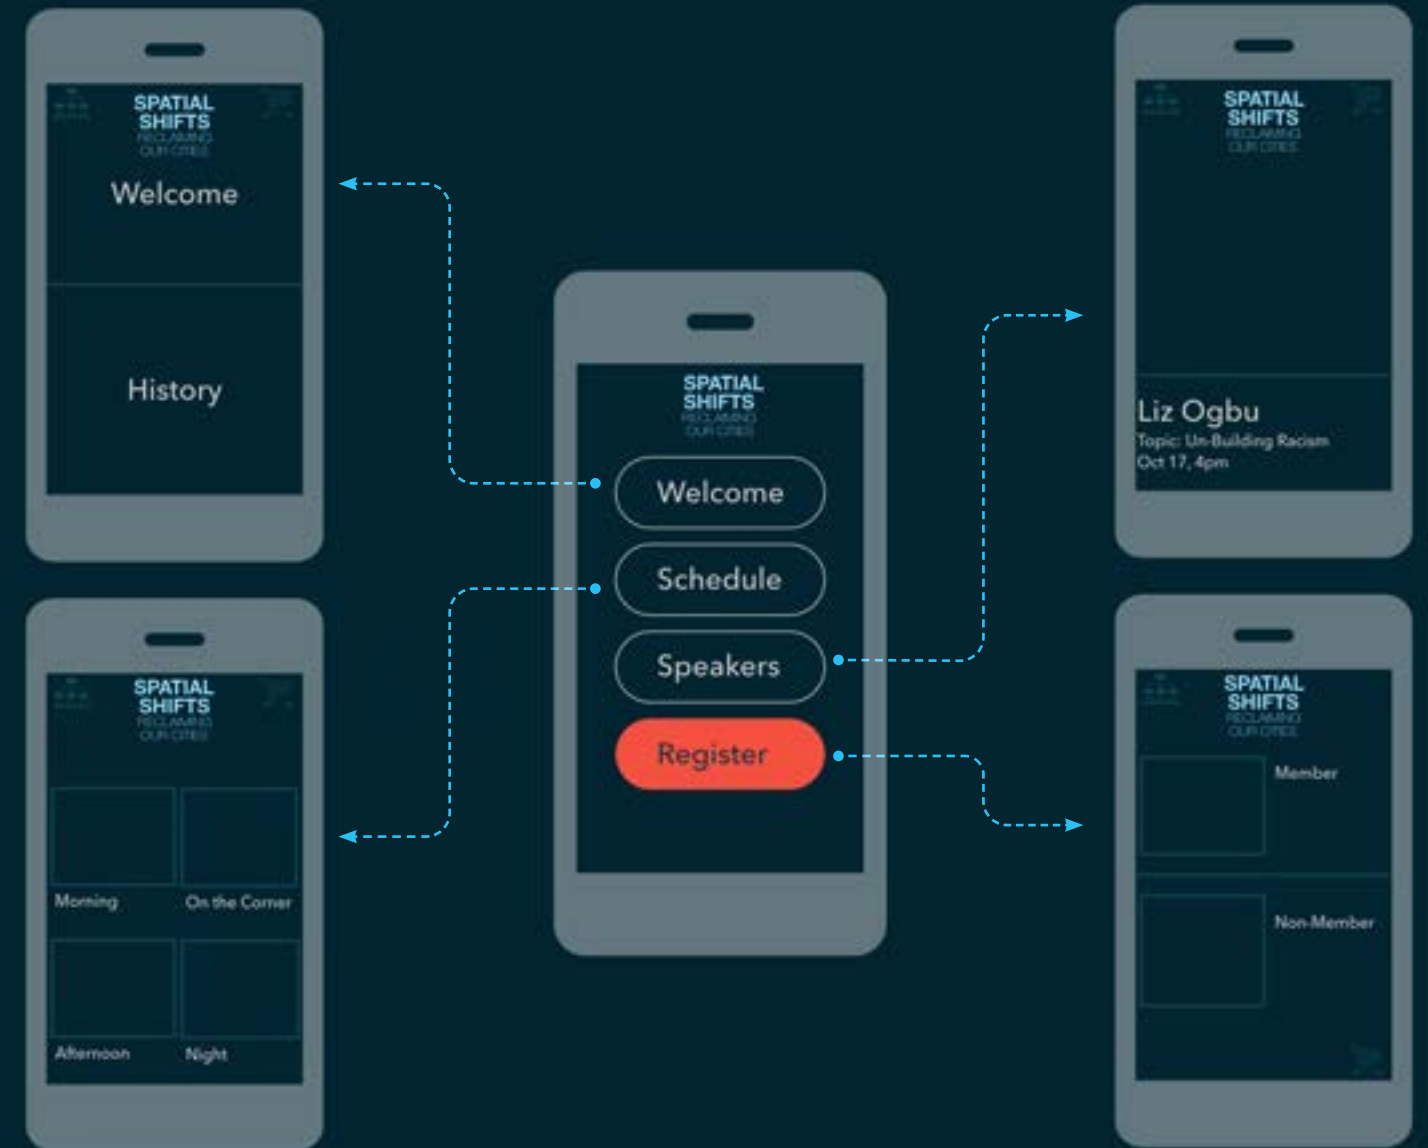

PRESIDENT

THE SAN FRANCISCO CHAPTER OF THE
NATIONAL ORGANIZATION OF MINORITY
ARCHITECTS

In Oakland + everywhere, we are witnessing disharmony. SFNOMA is deeply honored by the great privilege and opportunity to curate NOMA's 48th Annual Conference and Expo.

This first on-line conference will bring together our global community of students, architects, landscape architects, environmental activists, and designers of diverse backgrounds. SFNOMA welcomes the entire NOMA family in critical discourse on issues that impact minority communities everywhere.

HOST CITY

WELCOME

WILLIAM GILCHRIST, NOMA, FAIA
*City of Oakland
Director, Planning & Building Department*

The City of Oakland has long been at the epicenter of the nation's discourse of social and racial justice. Current challenges and opportunities facing this city assure that it shall continue its role as a fulcrum of analysis, actions, and outcomes that test the proposition of who is included in the critical decisions affecting our built environment and of who benefits from those decisions. As practitioners in the craft and art of architecture, urbanism, and planning, the membership of NOMA brings a necessary and unique set of perspectives, talent, and commitment to the full realization of design in the service of community.

The City of Oakland proudly welcome this national convening of our friends, colleagues, and peers to advance the practice of design as our most tangible measure of social justice and our collective values."

SPATIAL SHIFTS - RECLAIMING OUR CITIES

OCT 15 - 17 Seminars

What does it mean to Reclaim in a time of Spatial Shifts?

With the title SPATIAL SHIFTS - RECLAIMING OUR CITIES, the 48th annual NOMA Conference, addresses contemporary urban conditions in the host city, Oakland and cities nationwide.

The Conference is organized around several themes that define the core structure from which all the conferences, round tables, exhibits, workshops and other events will be grouped by affinity. Themes are interconnected, rather than isolated. They allow the organization of specific approaches within the broad range of hot issues in the field of contemporary architecture and urbanism.

Proposals involving a similar set of questions will be aggregated, bringing together people with common interests within a diversity of places, scales, programs and approaches.

Seminar formats will vary from traditional lectures to round table discussion, interactive workshops and film presentations. Submit your presentation here.

WHO BELONGS	Policy, Vulnerabilities and Inequalities. The political dimensions of space, ownership, and the hidden tales; how can we assure access to public and private property to be areas for belonging for black and brown people?
CULTURE	Space and Urban Structures. What are the social challenges urban structures and the public realm to architecture and urbanism? How can these spaces serve as places for cultural keeping and storytelling of neighborhoods and inspire our approach to the industry.
HOUSING	Place, Space, Consumption and Production. This theme debates the value of existing housing policies. What alternative Just process and housing types can eliminate the affordable housing shortage?
CLIMATE JUSTICE	Grounding In Green. How are NOMA members and allies creating initiatives, strategies and projects to harness goals of the Green New Deal in order to to secure economic, environmental and land security for Just communities who have traditionally been left out of the national infrastructure?
EXPANDED ROLE OF THE ARCHITECT	Design, Practice & Technology. What are the solutions at the intersections between design and technology which can be used to elevate, advance, and redefine the professions of architecture, planning, design and development as a whole.
PROFESSIONAL PRACTICE	These seminars will focus on business & growth; as well as, the development of emerging professionals: internships, ARE, AXP, mentorship, and aide in career growth.
OAKLAND INTERSECTION	Make Visible Your Call to Action. This track is reserved for Oakland organizations to present ideas, and challenges to the architecture and design community.

OCT 16 + 17 2020 Barbara G Laure NOMA
Student Design Competition

The Black Cultural Zone Resilience Co-Hub

The site selected for the 48th annual conference is a project led by The Black Cultural Zone (BCZ) Community Development Corporation, in collaboration with seven environmental and housing justice organizations, plans to create a net positive mixed-use community-owned development. The vision of the community is to maintain in perpetuity Black space and culture while being stewards of ecological balance and renewal in Deep East Oakland.

In 2013, the annual NOMA Student Design Competition was renamed in honor of Barbara G. Laurie, AIA, a lifelong friend, supporter, professor, mentor, and an active member within the NOMA family. An accomplished architect in her own right, Barbara dedicated her life to the education and mentorship of young students as a professor of architecture at Howard University. Drawing inspiration from her students, both in practice and at school, she consistently encouraged and pushed her students to realize their full potential. Thank you repeat sponsor, SOM.

WE ARE NOMA

THE NATIONAL ORGANIZATION OF MINORITY ARCHITECTS' (NOMA) MISSION IS ROOTED IN A RICH LEGACY OF ACTIVISM, IS TO EMPOWER OUR LOCAL CHAPTERS AND MEMBERSHIP TO FOSTER JUSTICE AND EQUITY IN COMMUNITIES OF COLOR THROUGH OUTREACH, COMMUNITY ADVOCACY, PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT AND DESIGN EXCELLENCE.

TOGETHER SINCE 1971

The National Organization of Minority Architects (NOMA) is a volunteer led organization that utilizes the power of its members to promote the need for diversity in architecture and allied professions. Our members contribute their time and resources to build a strong national organization made up of local chapters that work in their region to highlight the achievements of minority architects as well as develop future architects of all backgrounds so that the profession continues to grow.

Our impact is felt nationally through our numerous advocacy programs that target not only our constituency, but decision-makers in other professions, such as politicians, educators, and private corporations. Through our growing membership, we continue to add strength to the voice with which we can speak against apathy, intolerance, ignorance and against abuse of the natural environment. We voice our support for the marginalized, and disenfranchised, which is followed up by action in the communities we serve. Through our publications we inform the world about the talent, drive, and capabilities of minority professionals, that may otherwise go unnoticed.

The National Organization of Minority Architects is a 501(c)6 organization.
